

The highly dynamic Asia-Pacific region has been an important segment of the supply chains of many companies, either for sourcing, manufacturing or distribution. The current pandemic represents an existential challenge for many supply chains, as it causes multiple operational and business disruptions. But the pandemic also accelerated trends, such as digitalisation, regionalisation and politicisation of trade, not to mention the rise of environmental, social and governance aspects in doing business.

Many businesses now face the necessity to optimise and align their supply chains - in particular in the Asia-Pacific region - in order to provide a panic-proof, sustainable foundation for future business. Focusing on Malaysia as an alternative supply chain hub in the Asia-Pacific region, we will provide you with a comprehensive overview of the diverse considerations to keep in mind to successfully structure, implement and adopt a sustainable supply chain.

Each session will be concluded by a Question & Answer segment for you to submit your individual questions to our expert speakers.
