Last year, the German government published the policy guidelines on the Indo Pacific to expand its co-operation with the region. It emphasizes the importance of South East Asia as part of further diversifying Germany’s and the EU’s relations with the region.

One year later, the German Embassy and the SGC are pleased to jointly organise a panel discussion and dialogue. Building on the motto of the upcoming Indonesian G20-Presidency, the event is entitled “Recover together, recover stronger – intertwining policy and business in the Indo-Pacific” on 5th October from 4.00-5.30pm.

This panel will address a major aim of the policy guidelines’ which is to avoid unilateral dependencies by diversifying partnerships and how to further intertwine policy making and enterprises.
